Dear Ms. Sheppard-Johnson:

TechLaw has completed a Potentially Responsible Party (PRP) Evidence Summary mailing and tracking spreadsheet for the Chemical Recovery Systems Site (Site).

Per the EPA TOM, TechLaw was directed to compile, index and summarize evidence files for each of the Site PRPs. A copy of these files were then mailed, via certified letter, to each of the PRPs. As directed in the Task Order, TechLaw routed the 129 completed certified mailings through the U.S. EPA Mail Center. The mail center was also provided a spreadsheet printout of the 129 recipients. The spreadsheet includes the site name, recipient name, certified mail article number, and tracking status.

Per direction of the EPA TOM, evidence mailings were not sent to Akron Rubber Company, American Adhesives, American Marietta, Basic Packaging Machinery Corporation and Ken's Woodcraft. After repeated follow-up research and/or secondary mailings, these PRPs could not be located.

Under Task 8-E (Create PRP files), TechLaw continued review of Chemical Recovery Systems site files for evidence specific to individual PRPs. At the direction of the EPA TOM, TechLaw revised the evidence summary spreadsheet to include entries for "Drum Charges" and "Sludge Disposal" as subheadings to the Accounts Receivable entries. Provided are five (5) copies of this updated Evidence Summary spreadsheet, which itemizes evidence on a PRP specific basis.
